Adam Winer joins AJP as Director of Business Development

Odenton, MD – A. J. Properties, Inc. (AJP) is proud to welcome Adam Winer as its new Director of Business Development. In his role as Director of Business Development, Mr. Winer is responsible for expanding AJP's brokerage and management footprint as well as developing new business opportunities. Adam will identify and work with clients to expand, locate, or relocate and collaborate with AJP staff to create customized service solutions.

Son of A. J. Properties' founder and President Jay Winer, Adam brings his entrepreneurial experience in opening and operating several other family businesses including development and launch of a major web-based retail store. He has spent the last two years managing operations and construction in the housing rehab and resale market. Adam has a passion for innovative marketing and value added solutions. He holds a BS degree from West Virginia University. He's married to his wife Heather and has two sons, Max and Grey.

"We welcome Adam as Director of Business Development for AJP and look forward to working together on fresh ideas," stated Michele Waits, Marketing Manager. AJP is excited to have Mr. Winer on board and looks forward to the new opportunities and growth he will bring to the company.

A. J. Properties, Inc. is a privately held, full-service real estate development, leasing, consulting and management firm founded in 1983 by President Jay Winer. The company prides itself on getting the job accomplished by being creative and flexible to serve clients' needs and interests. Services include sales, leasing and tenant representation; development and property management; financing; marketing; and consulting for office, retail, industrial, warehouse and adaptive reuse of properties.
